1       I. PRELIMINARY STATEMENT

2           Following more than five years of litigation and just days before a rare securities 3 class action trial was scheduled to commence, Class Counsel successfully negotiated a 4 settlement of the above-captioned action (“Action”) with SeaWorld Entertainment, Inc.
5 (“SeaWorld” or the “Company”), The Blackstone Group L.P., now known as The 6 Blackstone Group Inc. (“Blackstone”), James Atchison, James M. Heaney, and Marc 7 Swanson (collectively, “Defendants”).<sup>1</sup> If approved by the Court, the Settlement will 8 resolve this contentious and complex case in its entirety in exchange for $65 million in 9 cash for the Class. The Settlement not only eliminates the substantial risks Class 10 Representatives faced in taking the Action to trial, but also represents approximately 11 14% of the Class’s estimated potential aggregate damages—a percentage exceeding 12 the median recovery in recent securities class actions with similar damages by nearly 13 three times.<sup>2</sup> By any measure, the Settlement is an excellent result for the Class.

14           As detailed in the Joint Declaration, Class Counsel vigorously pursued this 15 Action from its outset and were fully prepared to go to trial when the Settlement was 16 reached. Among their efforts, Class Counsel directed a far-ranging investigation, 17 resulting in two detailed complaints (and two rounds of motion to dismiss briefing), 18 pursued myriad sources for document discovery, including propounding at least 23

19 _____
20 <sup>1</sup> All capitalized terms used herein have the meanings ascribed to them in the 21 Stipulation and Agreement of Settlement dated February 10, 2020 (ECF No. 516-3)
22 (“Stipulation”) or in the Joint Declaration of Joshua E. D’Ancona and Jeffrey J.
23 Angelovich in Support of (A) Class Representatives’ Motion for Final Approval of 24 Settlement and Plan of Allocation; and (B) Class Counsel’s Motion for an Award of Attorneys’ Fees and Litigation Expenses (“Joint Declaration” or “Joint Decl.”), filed herewith. Citations to “¶ ___” herein refer to paragraphs in the Joint Declaration and citations to “Ex. ___” herein refer to exhibits to the Joint Declaration.

25 <sup>2</sup> As set forth in § II.D.1 below, Class Representatives’ damages expert estimated 26 potential aggregate damages in the Action to be $465 million. See Laarni T. Bulan & 27 Laura E. Simmons, Securities Class Action Settlements: 2019 Review and Analysis, Cornerstone Research, at 6 (2020), www.cornerstone.com/Publications/Reports/28 Securities-Class-ActionSettlements-2019-Review-and-Analysis (reporting median securities class action settlement amount for 2019 was 4.8% of estimated damages for cases with estimated damages between $250 and $499 million).

1 document subpoenas on third parties, and litigated as many as eight fact discovery-
2 related disputes with Defendants through briefing and, in some cases, oral 3 argument. As a result of these efforts, Class Counsel received over 750,000 pages of 4 documents (in addition to significant amounts of electronic data) that were reviewed 5 and analyzed in connection with the Action. Class Counsel also: (i) took the depositions 6 of 27 fact witnesses—including the depositions of all three individual Defendants, a 7 Blackstone executive and former SeaWorld director, and two corporate representatives 8 of SeaWorld under Federal Rule 30(b)(6); (ii) participated in additional depositions of 9 third parties noticed by Defendants; and (iii) defended the depositions of both Class 10 Representatives. Class Counsel consulted extensively with experts and consultants in 11 the areas of market efficiency, damages, loss causation, and issues of data analysis 12 related to attendance drivers performed (or not performed) by Defendants, assisted in 13 the preparation of five expert reports, and took or defended a total of seven expert 14 depositions. ¶¶ 19-48.

15 In addition to obtaining certification of the Class and defeating Defendants’ 16 subsequent Rule 23(f) petition to the Ninth Circuit, Class Counsel defeated in its 17 entirety Defendants’ motion for summary judgment, which challenged every 18 substantive element of the Class’s claims. Class Counsel also opposed three Daubert 19 motions seeking to exclude Class Representatives’ expert witnesses, defeating two.
20 Finally, Class Counsel undertook exhaustive preparations for trial, including 21 conducting a two-day mock jury and focus group in December 2019 that provided vital 22 insight into the strengths and weaknesses of Class Representatives’ claims. As trial 23 drew near, Class Counsel worked closely with a jury consultant to prepare and 24 exchange witness and exhibit lists, prepare direct and cross-examinations of all 25 potential trial witnesses, create numerous demonstratives to be used at trial, and craft 26 questions for inclusion in a jury questionnaire. In the midst of these efforts, Class 27 Counsel continued their settlement discussions with Defendants’ Counsel in a final 28 attempt to resolve the Action before trial and participated in a second formal mediation

1 with Mr. Jed D. Melnick, Esq. of JAMS and The Weinstein Melnick Team in January
2 2020. See ¶¶ 49-77. The Settlement was reached shortly thereafter.<sup>3</sup>

3 Class Counsel assumed all risks in litigating the Action by taking this case on a 4 fully contingent basis and devoted substantial resources to prosecuting the Action
5 against well-resourced opposing counsel in order to achieve the Settlement. Class 6 Counsel deployed a large, extremely dedicated group of professionals to develop, 7 support, and aggressively pursue the Action, including not only skilled litigators in the 8 area of securities litigation, but also highly experienced investigators, paralegals, 9 administrative staff, and others. In total, Class Counsel collectively worked nearly 10 49,000 hours over the course of more than five years on this complex litigation and 11 laid out over $2.1 million of their own money, with no guarantee of ever being paid.

12 The amount of quality legal work Class Counsel dedicated to the prosecution of 13 this Action—and the significant risk they took on by prosecuting and funding this 14 Action with no guarantee of recovery—justifies a fee of 22% of the Settlement Fund.
15 As discussed below, this fee request is: (i) below the 25% “benchmark” for attorneys’ 16 fee awards in the Ninth Circuit; (ii) consistent with or below fees awarded in other 17 securities and complex class actions; (iii) consistent with the agreements Class 18 Representatives entered into with Class Counsel at the outset of the Action; and (iv)
19 well below Plaintiffs’ Counsel’s<sup>4</sup> lodestar, resulting in a fractional or “negative” 20 multiplier of 0.60. Thus, despite the substantial contingency risks Class Counsel faced 21 (which would otherwise justify a substantial positive multiplier on their lodestar), they

7 request—a request made pursuant to retention agreements they entered into with Class

July 15, 2020.

1 For the reasons discussed herein, Class Counsel respectfully submit that the 2 requested fee is fair and reasonable, particularly in light of the favorable recovery
3 obtained for the Class and the fact that the requested fee is less than the Ninth Circuit’s 4 “benchmark” fee award, as well as considerably less than the lodestar incurred by 5 Plaintiffs’ Counsel in litigating the Action. Class Counsel also respectfully submit that 6 the Litigation Expenses for which they seek reimbursement were reasonable and 7 necessary for the successful prosecution of the Action and that the requests for 8 reimbursement to Class Representatives APERS and PBU pursuant to the PSLRA for 9 the time they dedicated to the Action on behalf of the Class are likewise reasonable 10 and appropriate. Accordingly, Class Counsel request that their Motion for an Award of 11 Attorneys’ Fees and Litigation Expenses be granted in full.

12 II. CLASS COUNSEL’S REQUEST FOR ATTORNEYS’ FEES IS 13 REASONABLE AND SHOULD BE APPROVED

14 A. Class Counsel are Entitled to a Reasonable Fee from the Common 15 Fund Created by the Settlement

16 Courts in this Circuit recognize that “a private plaintiff, or his attorney, whose 17 efforts create, discover, increase or preserve a fund to which others also have a claim 18 is entitled to recover from the fund the costs of his litigation, including attorneys’ fees.”
19 Vincent v. Hughes Air W., Inc., 557 F.2d 759, 769 (9th Cir. 1977); accord Stetson v.
20 Grissom, 821 F.3d 1157, 1165 (9th Cir. 2016).<sup>8</sup> Further, the Supreme Court “has 21 recognized consistently that a litigant or a lawyer who recovers a common fund for the 22 benefit of persons other than himself or his client is entitled to a reasonable attorney’s 23 fee from the fund as a whole.” Boeing Co. v. Van Gemert, 444 U.S. 472, 478 (1980).
24 The policy rationale for awarding attorneys’ fees from a common fund is that “those 25 who benefit from the creation of the fund should share the wealth with the lawyers

2 19 F.3d 1291, 1300 (9th Cir. 1994) (“WPPSS”).

3 Courts have also recognized that, in addition to providing just compensation, 4 awards of fair attorneys’ fees from a common fund ensure that “competent counsel 5 continue to be willing to undertake risky, complex, and novel litigation.” Gunter v.
6 Ridgewood Energy Corp., 223 F.3d 190, 198 (3d Cir. 2000). Fee awards in meritorious 7 cases promote private enforcement of, and compliance with, the federal securities laws, 8 which “seek to maintain public confidence in the marketplace. They do so by deterring 9 fraud, in part, through the availability of private securities fraud actions.” Dura Pharm., 10 Inc. v. Broudo, 544 U.S. 336, 345 (2005).

11 B. The Court Should Calculate Attorneys’ Fees as a Percentage of the 12 Common Fund

13 Where a settlement produces a common fund, courts in this Circuit have 14 discretion to employ either the percentage-of-recovery method or the lodestar method 15 in awarding attorneys’ fees. See WPPSS, 19 F.3d at 1296; Vizcaino v. Microsoft Corp., 16 290 F.3d 1043, 1047 (9th Cir. 2002). However, the percentage-of-recovery method has 17 become the prevailing method used in this Circuit. See, e.g., Glass v. UBS Fin. Servs., 18 Inc., 331 F. App’x 452, 456-57 (9th Cir. 2009) (affirming district court’s use of 19 percentage-of-recovery method to award 25% fee); Ellison v. Steven Madden, Ltd., 20 2013 WL 12124432, at *8 (C.D. Cal. May 7, 2013) (finding “use of the percentage 21 method” to be the “dominant approach in common fund cases”); In re OmniVision 22 Techs., Inc., 559 F. Supp. 2d 1036, 1046 (N.D. Cal. 2007) (same).

23 Courts have found the percentage-of-recovery method for awarding attorneys’ 24 fees preferable in cases with a common-fund recovery because it: (i) parallels the use 25 of percentage-based contingency fee contracts, which are the norm in private litigation; 26 (ii) aligns the lawyers’ interests with those of the class in achieving the maximum 27 possible recovery; and (iii) reduces the burden on the court by eliminating the detailed 28 and time-consuming lodestar analysis. See OmniVision, 559 F. Supp. 2d at 1046; Vinh

1 Nguyen v. Radiant Pharm. Corp., 2014 WL 1802293, at *9 (C.D. Cal. May 6, 2014).
2 In addition, the use of the percentage-of-recovery method comports with the language 3 of the PSLRA, which states that “[t]otal attorneys’ fees and expenses awarded by the 4 court to counsel for the plaintiff shall not exceed a reasonable percentage of the 5 amount of any damages and prejudgment interest actually paid to the class . . .” 15
6 U.S.C. § 78u-4(a)(6); see also In re Cendant Corp. Sec. Litig., 404 F.3d 173, 188 n.7 7 (3d Cir. 2005) (“[T]he PSLRA has made percentage-of-recovery the standard for 8 determining whether attorney’s fees are reasonable”).

9 C. A Fee of 22% of the Settlement Fund Is Reasonable Under Either the 10 Percentage-of-Recovery Method or Lodestar Method

11 In this case, whether assessed under the prevailing percentage-of-recovery 12 method or the lodestar method, the 22% fee request—which represents a “negative” 13 lodestar multiplier of approximately 0.60—is fair and reasonable.

14 1. The Fee Request Is Reasonable Under the Percentage Method

15 Class Counsel respectfully submit that the Court should award a fee based on a 16 percentage of the common fund obtained. The Ninth Circuit has established 25% as 17 the “benchmark” for percentage fee awards in common-fund cases, such as this one.
18 See HCL Partners Ltd. P’ship v. Leap Wireless Int’l, Inc., 2010 WL 4156342, at *2 19 (S.D. Cal. Oct. 15, 2010) (Anello, J.); see also Fischel v. Equitable Life Assurance

21 Tucson Elec. Power Co., 8 F.3d 1370, 1376 (9th Cir. 1993). The 25% percentage fee 22 benchmark can “be adjusted upward or downward to account for any unusual 23 circumstances involved in [the] case,” Paul, Johnson, Alston & Hunt v. Graulity, 886 24 F.2d 268, 272 (9th Cir. 1989), and, indeed, “in most common fund cases, the award 25 exceeds that benchmark.” OmniVision, 559 F. Supp. 2d at 1047; accord Jiangchen v.
26 Rentech, Inc., 2019 WL 5173771, at *9 (C.D. Cal. Oct. 10, 2019) (“The actual 27 percentage varies depending on the facts of each case, but in most common fund cases, 28 the award exceeds that benchmark.”).

1 Here, the 22% fee requested by Class Counsel is below the 25% benchmark and 2 well within the range of percentage fees that have been awarded in securities class 3 actions and other complex litigation in this Circuit and this Court. See, e.g., HCL

23 2. The Fee Request is Reasonable Under a Lodestar Cross-Check

24 To ensure the reasonableness of a fee awarded under the percentage-of-recovery 25 method, courts in this Circuit may cross-check the proposed fee award against 26 counsel's lodestar, although such a cross-check is not required. See In re Amgen Inc.
27 Sec. Litig., 2016 WL 10571773, at *9 (C.D. Cal. Oct. 25, 2016) (“Although an analysis 28 of the lodestar is not required for an award of attorneys’ fees in the Ninth Circuit, a

1 cross-check of the fee request with a lodestar amount can demonstrate the fee request’s
2 reasonableness.”); HCL Partners, 2010 WL 4156342, at *2 (noting that “lodestar 3 analysis is not necessary when the requested fee is within the accepted benchmark”).

4 As detailed herein and in the Joint Declaration, Plaintiffs’ Counsel exerted a 5 tremendous amount of effort in advancing this Action over the past five-plus years in 6 the face of an aggressive and determined defense. In total, Plaintiffs’ Counsel have 7 spent over 49,185 hours of attorney and other professional support staff time 8 prosecuting the Action for the benefit of the Class through May 31, 2020. ¶¶ 110, 121.
9 Plaintiffs’ Counsel’s lodestar, derived by multiplying the hours spent on the Action by 10 each attorney and professional support staff employee by their hourly rates, is 11 $23,765,584.25. See id.<sup>9</sup>

12 Accordingly, the requested fee of 22% of the Settlement Fund, which equates to 13 $14,300,000 (before interest), represents a multiplier of 0.60 on Plaintiffs’ Counsel’s 14 total lodestar. In other words, the requested fee represents only 60% of the lodestar 15 value of the time that Plaintiffs’ Counsel dedicated to the Action. This “negative” or 16 fractional multiplier is well below the range of multipliers—often between one and

17
18 <sup>9</sup> It is well established and appropriate to calculate counsel’s lodestar based on 19 current, rather than historical rates, as a method of compensating for the delay in 20 payment and the loss of interest on the funds. See Missouri v. Jenkins, 491 U.S. 274, 21 284 (1989); Fischel, 307 F.3d at 1010; WPPSS, 19 F.3d at 1305; White v. Experian 22 Info. Solutions, Inc., 2018 WL 1989514, at *15 (C.D. Cal. Apr. 6, 2018) (“Courts in 23 this Circuit regularly apply current billing rates in evaluating fee requests in multi-year 24 litigation to account for the delay in payment.”). The Fee and Expenses Declarations 25 submitted on behalf of the Plaintiffs’ Counsel firms (see Exs. 4 through 8 to the Joint 26 Declaration) include a description of the legal background and experience of Plaintiffs’ 27 Counsel, which support the hourly rates submitted. Plaintiffs’ Counsel’s hourly rates 28 are fair and reasonable for this legal market. See, e.g., In re Banc of California Secs.
Litig., No. SACV 17-00118 AG (DFMx), ECF Nos. 603 & 613 (C.D. Cal. Mar. 16, 2020) (approving fee request reporting hourly rates of $800 to $1,150 per hour for partners and $360 to $1,030 per hour for other attorneys). By way of comparison, Simpson Thacher & Bartlett LLP, one of the Defendants’ Counsel firms in this Action, reported hourly rates ranging from $540 to $1,085 per hour for associates and as high as $1,550 per hour for partners in a recent bankruptcy filing. See In re: Orchard Acquisition Co., LLC, et al., Case No. 17-12914 (KG), ECF No. 194, (Bankr. Del. Mar.
16, 2018). These rates are in line with, or exceed, Plaintiffs’ Counsel’s rates.

1 four—commonly awarded in comparable litigation. See Vizcaino, 290 F.3d at 1051 n.6 2 (finding that lodestar multipliers ranging from 1 to 4 are common); Hopkins v. Stryker
3 Sales Corp., 2013 WL 496358, at *4 (N.D. Cal. Feb. 6, 2013) (“Multipliers of 1 to 4 4 are commonly found to be appropriate in complex class action cases.”).

5 Indeed, in cases of this nature, fees representing multiples well above the 6 lodestar are regularly awarded to reflect the contingency fee risk and other relevant 7 factors. See Vizcaino, 290 F.3d at 1051 (noting “courts have routinely enhanced the 8 lodestar to reflect the risk of non-payment in common fund cases” and affirming a fee 9 representing a 3.65 multiplier); In re Flag Telecom Holdings, Ltd. Sec. Litig., 2010 WL 10 4537550, at *26 (S.D.N.Y. Nov. 8, 2010) (“a positive multiplier is typically applied to 11 the lodestar in recognition of the risk of the litigation, the complexity of the issues, the 12 contingent nature of the engagement, the skill of the attorneys, and other factors”).
13 Here, despite the existence of numerous substantial litigation risks from the outset, 14 Class Counsel are seeking a fee that is substantially less than the lodestar value of their 15 time. Courts repeatedly recognize that a percentage fee request that is less than 16 counsel’s lodestar provides strong confirmation of the reasonableness of the award.
17 See, e.g., Amgen, 2016 WL 10571773, at *9 (“Courts have recognized that a percentage 18 fee that falls below counsel’s lodestar strongly supports the reasonableness of the 19 award”); Flag Telecom, 2010 WL 4537550, at *26 (“Lead Counsel’s request for a 20 percentage fee representing a significant discount from their lodestar provides 21 additional support for the reasonableness of the fee request.”); In re Initial Pub.
22 Offering Sec. Litig., 671 F. Supp. 2d 467, 515 (S.D.N.Y. 2009) (finding “no real danger 23 of overcompensation” given that the requested fee represented a discount to counsel’s 24 lodestar).

25 In sum, Class Counsel’s requested fee award is reasonable, justified, and well 26 within the range of what courts in this Circuit regularly award in class actions, whether 27 calculated as a percentage-of-recovery or as a cross-check on counsel’s lodestar.
28

1 Moreover, as discussed below, each of the additional factors considered by courts in 2 the Ninth Circuit also weighs in favor of finding the requested fee reasonable.

3 D. The Factors Considered by Courts in the Ninth Circuit Support
4 Approval of the Requested Fee

5 Courts in this Circuit also consider the following factors when determining 6 whether a fee is fair and reasonable: (1) results achieved; (2) risks of litigation; (3) skill 7 required and quality of work; (4) contingent nature of the fee and financial burden 8 carried by the plaintiffs; (5) awards made in similar cases; and (6) reaction of the class.
9 See Vizcaino, 290 F.3d at 1048-50.<sup>10</sup> Each of the Vizcaino factors confirms that the 10 requested 22% fee is fair and reasonable.

11 1. Results Achieved

12 Courts consistently recognize that the result achieved is an important factor in 13 determining an appropriate fee award. See Hensley v. Eckerhart, 461 U.S. 424, 436
14 (1983) (noting “the most critical factor is the degree of success obtained”); Vizcaino, 15 290 F.3d at 1048 (noting “[e]xceptional results are a relevant circumstance” in 16 awarding attorneys’ fees); In re DJ Orthopedics, Inc. Sec. Litig., 2004 WL 1445101, 17 at *7 (S.D. Cal. June 21, 2004) (same).

18 Here, the Settlement represents a material portion of the Class’s potential 19 aggregate damages in the Action. As estimated by Class Representatives’ damages 20 expert, the maximum class-wide damages in the Action are approximately $465 21 million (assuming full liability and damages). ¶¶ 11, 112. Thus, the $65 million 22 Settlement represents a recovery of approximately 14% of estimated potential 23 maximum damages. This result far exceeds the median securities class action recovery 24 as a percentage of damages, which was 4.8% in 2019. See supra n.2; see also Rentech, 25 2019 WL 5173771, at *9 (finding “10% recovery of estimated damages [to be] a 28 unique facts and circumstances presented by each individual case.” *Atlas v. Accredited

1 favorable outcome in light of the challenging nature of securities class action cases”); 2 OmniVision, 559 F. Supp. 2d at 1046 (finding settlement with a recovery of 3 “approximately 9% of the possible damages, which is more than triple the average 4 recovery in securities class action settlements . . . weighs in favor of granting the 5 requested 28% fee”).<sup>11</sup> Had the Action continued to trial, Defendants would have 6 challenged damages, arguing they were significantly less than $465 million, or even 7 zero. If Defendants’ challenges prevailed, the Class’s damages would be substantially 8 reduced or eliminated entirely. Any appeal following a win by Class Representatives 9 at trial similarly would have threatened to reduce any damages awarded.

10 It also bears noting the numerous interim successes achieved by Class Counsel 11 throughout the course of this Action, which paved the way for the Settlement. As noted 12 above and detailed in the Joint Declaration, Class Counsel defeated Defendants’ 13 motion to dismiss the operative Second Amended Complaint, as well as successfully 14 obtained certification of the Class over Defendants’ vigorous opposition (and defended 15 that certification win by fending off Defendants’ Rule 23(f) petition to the Ninth 16 Circuit). ¶¶ 29-31, 49-55. In addition, based on their discovery efforts, Class Counsel 17 were able to marshal a compelling evidentiary record at summary judgment which 18 provided the foundation for opposing (and defeating) Defendants’ comprehensive Rule 19 56 motion. ¶¶ 32-42, 59-63. Put simply, Class Counsel devoted an enormous amount 20 of effort to prosecuting this case.

28 recoverable aggregate damages at trial” was “well within the range of percentages approved in other securities-fraud related actions . . .”); McPhail v. First Command Fin. Planning, Inc., 2009 WL 839841, at *5 (S.D. Cal. Mar. 30, 2009) (finding $12 million settlement recovering 7% of estimated damages fair and adequate).

1           Accordingly, the recovery obtained for the Class in the face of the significant 2 litigation risks described below and in the Joint Declaration strongly supports approval 3 of the fee request.

4                           2. Risks of Litigation

5           Another factor for courts to consider in determining an appropriate fee award is 6 the risks of litigation. Vizcaino, 290 F.3d at 1048 (noting “[r]isk is a relevant 7 circumstance” in awarding attorneys’ fees); Rentech, 2019 WL 5173771, at *9 (“The 8 risk that further litigation might result in Plaintiffs not recovering at all, particularly a 9 case involving complicated legal issues, is a significant factor in the award of fees.”); 10 Destefano, 2016 WL 537946, at *17 (approving fee request and noting “as to the 11 second factor . . . the risks associated with this case were substantial given the 12 challenges of obtaining class certification and establishing the falsity of the 13 misrepresentations and loss causation”).<sup>12</sup> As the Court is well aware, this Action 14 involved a number of complex and disputed questions of law and fact. While Class 15 Representatives and Class Counsel believe in the merits of their claims, there were 16 unquestionably substantial challenges to succeeding at trial. ¶¶ 81-96. See generally In 17 re Portal Software, Inc. Sec. Litig., 2007 WL 4171201, at *3 (N.D. Cal. Nov. 26, 2007)
18 (noting “significant risks” the PSLRA poses “to plaintiffs’ ability to survive . . .
19 summary judgment and prevail[] at trial[.]”).

20           Throughout the Action, Class Representatives faced significant risks with 21 respect to establishing Defendants’ liability. At trial, Defendants would have argued, 22 as they did at the motion to dismiss and summary judgment stages, that the statements
23 at issue in the Action were not false at the time they were made and that Class 24

25 <sup>12</sup> For purposes of reviewing the reasonableness of a fee award, the Court should 26 also consider all risks the litigation presented from the outset. See Fischel, 307 F.3d at 27 1009 (“there is no dispute that a court should consider risk at the ‘outset’ of litigation,” 28 which the Ninth Circuit has determined to be the point in time “when an attorney determines that there is merit to the client’s claim and elects to pursue the claim on the client’s behalf”).

1 Representatives would be unable to establish that Defendants did not legitimately 2 believe the truth of such statements. ¶¶ 89-90. At trial, a jury would be asked to evaluate 3 Class Representatives’ claims that the alleged misstatements were materially false or 4 misleading based on internally-recognized business impacts and a failure to test for 5 Blackfish impact and were not, as Defendants would argue, a normal feature of 6 SeaWorld’s existence as a longstanding target of animal activists. Id. Defendants 7 would also claim that the asserted impacts were small or immaterial relative to the 8 overall size of the Company, and that the business partnerships and consumer 9 communications Class Representatives point to in further support of their claims were 10 mere noisy outliers. Id. Defendants would further emphasize that the SeaWorld-11 branded parks set revenue records in the middle of the Class Period, seemingly 12 contradicting Class Representatives’ theory of clear and sustained impact. Id. With 13 respect to scienter, Defendants would continue to assert that their conduct was not 14 reckless and deny that they downplayed or ignored anything of significance, especially 15 relating to impact from Blackfish. ¶ 90.

16 In addition, there were considerable challenges to Class Representatives’ ability 17 to prove loss causation and damages. For example, Defendants would continue to 18 assert that the price decline in SeaWorld common stock on the alleged corrective 19 disclosure date was caused by factors unrelated to the alleged fraud. ¶ 93. Defendants 20 also would argue the “truth” regarding their alleged fraud was understood prior to the 21 end of the Class Period, and, alternatively, that the disclosure at issue addressed only 22 the final few months of the Class Period, not the full 11.5 months and thus, did not 23 “correct” the alleged misstatements from the entire Class Period. Id. Of course, to 24 establish the Class’s full claimed amount of damages, Class Representatives would 25 need to show that Defendants’ alleged fraud affected SeaWorld common stock 26 throughout the entire Class Period. ¶ 94. Ultimately, the Parties’ arguments on loss 27 causation and damages would have hinged upon extensive expert testimony at trial. As 28 the Court is doubtless aware, one can never comfortably predict how a jury or court

1 will weigh the testimony of competing experts. See Cendant, 264 F.3d at 239
2 (“establishing damages at trial would lead to a ‘battle of experts’ . . . with no guarantee
3 whom the jury would believe”); see also Radiant Pharm., 2014 WL 1802293, at *2 4 (approving requested attorneys’ fees and noting particular challenges of proving and 5 calculating damages).

6 Finally, Class Representatives faced additional risks in taking the Action to trial 7 such as: (i) the fact that every witness at trial—aside from Class Representatives’ own 8 experts—would be hostile; (ii) the difficulties in explaining to a jury complex concepts 9 related to securities fraud, stock markets, and economic damages; and (iii) the unique 10 risk of litigating against a well-regarded San Diego entity in San Diego. ¶¶ 81, 95.
11 Moreover, a single juror with entrenched sympathies to SeaWorld or antipathies 12 toward, e.g., class action lawsuits in general, could defeat a unanimous jury verdict in 13 favor of Class Representatives. ¶ 95.

14 Even if all of these significant obstacles to proving liability and damages at trial 15 had been surmounted, Class Representatives would have faced inevitable appellate 16 proceedings, which would have tied up any recovery for years and could have 17 eliminated it entirely. The Settlement avoids all of the foregoing risks (and others) and 18 secures a substantial recovery for the Class. Thus, this factor supports the fee request.

19 3. Skill Required and Quality of Work

20 “The experience of counsel is also a factor in determining the appropriate fee 21 award.” In re Heritage Bond Litig., 2005 WL 1594389, at *12 (C.D. Cal. June 10, 22 2005). Indeed, “[t]he prosecution and management of a complex national class action 23 requires unique legal skills and abilities.” OmniVision, 559 F. Supp. 2d at 1047.

24 Class Counsel have extensive experience prosecuting securities class actions and 25 other complex litigation throughout the country.<sup>13</sup> Their experience and skill was 26

27
28 <sup>13</sup> See firm resumes for Kessler Topaz and Nix Patterson at Exs. 4-D and 5-C to the Joint Declaration, respectively. The additional law firms comprising Plaintiffs’

1 critical to the prosecution of this Action for more than five years to a successful 2 resolution. Defendants prevailed entirely on their first motion to dismiss. ¶ 27. Despite 3 this, Class Counsel amended their claims and defeated Defendants’ second motion to 4 dismiss and went on to, among other successes, obtain certification of the Class, defeat
5 Defendants’ motion for summary judgment in its entirety, and secure a favorable 6 recovery for the Class.

7 The quality of opposing counsel is also important in evaluating the quality of 8 services rendered by Class Counsel. See, e.g., Barbosa v. Cargill Meat Solutions Corp., 9 297 F.R.D. 431, 449 (E.D. Cal. 2013). Defendants in this case were represented by 10 Simpson Thacher & Bartlett LLP and Katten Muchin Rosenman LLP, both nationally 11 prominent defense firms that spared no effort or cost in vigorously defending their 12 clients. ¶ 123. Notwithstanding this formidable opposition, Class Counsel’s ability to 13 present a strong case and to demonstrate their willingness and ability to prosecute the 14 Action through trial and inevitable appeals helped secure the Settlement. Accordingly, 15 this factor supports Class Counsel’s fee request.

16 4. Contingent Nature of the Fee and Financial Burden Carried by 17 the Plaintiffs

18 Class Counsel undertook this Action on a contingent fee basis, assuming a 19 substantial risk that the Action would yield no recovery and leave counsel 20 uncompensated. The Ninth Circuit has confirmed that a determination of a fair and 21 reasonable fee must include consideration of the contingent nature of the fee.<sup>14</sup> It is an 22 established practice in the private legal market to reward attorneys for taking on the 23 serious risk of non-payment by permitting a fee award that reflects a premium to 24 normal hourly billing rates. See In re Nuvelo, Inc. Sec. Litig., 2011 WL 2650592, at *2;

25 _____
26 Counsel are also experienced in complex litigation. See Exs. 6-C, 7-C, and 8-C to the Joint Declaration.

27 <sup>14</sup> See WPPSS, 19 F.3d at 1299; In re Dynamic Random Access Memory (DRAM)
28 Antitrust Litig., 2007 WL 2416513, at *1 (N.D. Cal. Aug. 16, 2007); see also OmniVision, 559 F. Supp. 2d at 1047.

1 Destefano, 2016 WL 537946, at *18 (noting that “when counsel takes on a contingency
2 fee case and the litigation is protracted, the risk of non-payment after years of litigation
3 justifies a significant fee award”). That is not the case here, given that the requested
4 fee represents a discount to counsel’s lodestar. See, e.g., Flag Telecom, 2010 WL 5 4537550, at *26.

6 Class Counsel received no compensation during the more than five years in 7 which this Action has been pending. During that time, Plaintiffs’ Counsel invested over 8 49,185 hours for a total lodestar of $23,765,584.25, and incurred expenses of over $2.1 9 million in prosecuting the case. See ¶¶ 113-17, 121. Additional further work in 10 connection with the Settlement and claims administration will still be required. Any 11 fee award has always been at risk, and completely contingent on the result achieved 12 and on this Court’s discretion in awarding fees and expenses. Unlike defense counsel—13 who typically receive payment on a timely and regular basis throughout a case, whether 14 they win or lose—Class Counsel carried the significant risk of not only funding the 15 expenses of this Action, but also the risk that they would receive no compensation 16 whatsoever unless they prevailed at trial. Accordingly, the contingent nature of the 17 representation, and the burden carried by Class Counsel, support the requested fee.

18 5. The Requested Fee Is Consistent with Or Less Than Awards
19 Made in Similar Cases

20 Class Counsel’s fee request is well within the range of what courts in this Circuit 21 commonly award in complex securities class actions. To avoid repetition, Class 22 Counsel refer the Court to Part II.C.1, supra, which explains that the 22% fee request
23 is below the Ninth Circuit’s 25% “benchmark” as well as fee percentages regularly 24 awarded in comparable complex litigation; and Part II.C.2, supra, which explains that 25 the 22% fee request represents a multiplier of 0.60 on Plaintiffs’ Counsel’s lodestar, 26 well below the typical lodestar multiplier in cases of this nature.

1                   6. The Class’s Reaction to Date Supports the Requested Fee

2                   The reaction of the Class to date also supports the requested fee. To date, 16,597
3 Postcard Notices and 4,244 Notices have been mailed to those potential Class Members 4 who originally received the Class Notice and who did not opt out as well as Nominees,
5 and any new potential Class Members that were identified by Nominees. The Postcard 6 Notice and Notice posted on wwwSeaWorldSecuritiesLitigation.com inform potential 7 Class Members of Class Counsel’s intent to apply to the Court for an award of 8 attorneys’ fees in an amount not to exceed 22% of the Settlement Fund and 9 reimbursement of Litigation Expenses in an amount not to exceed $2.8 million, plus 10 interest. See Ex. 3, Ex. A & Ex. B. While the time to object to Class Counsel’s request 11 for attorneys’ fees and Litigation Expenses does not expire until July 1, 2020, to date, 12 no objections have been filed. ¶¶ 12, 109. Should any objections be received, Class 13 Counsel will address them in their reply.

14                   In addition, as noted above, the two large institutional investor Class 15 Representatives have approved Class Counsel’s request for attorneys’ fees and 16 Litigation Expenses. See APERS Decl. ¶ 10; PBU Decl. ¶ 10. See In re Lucent Techs.
17 Inc. Sec. Litig., 327 F. Supp. 2d 426, 442 (D.N.J. 2004) (“Significantly, the Lead 18 Plaintiffs, both of whom are institutional investors with great financial stakes in the 19 outcome of the litigation, have reviewed and approved Lead Counsel’s fees and 20 expenses request.”); In re Bear Stearns Cos., Inc. Sec., Derivative, & ERISA Litig., 909 21 F. Supp. 2d 259, 272 (S.D.N.Y. 2012) (“[W]hen class counsel in a securities lawsuit 22 have negotiated an arm’s-length agreement with a sophisticated lead plaintiff 23 possessing a large stake in the litigation, and when that lead plaintiff endorses the 24 application following close supervision of the litigation, the court should give the terms 25 of that agreement great weight.”). This fact provides additional support for the fee.

1 III. PLAINTIFFS’ COUNSEL’S LITIGATION EXPENSES ARE 2 REASONABLE AND SHOULD BE APPROVED

3 Class Counsel also request reimbursement of $2,104,370.19 from the Settlement
4 Fund for expenses Plaintiffs’ Counsel reasonably incurred in initiating, prosecuting, 5 and resolving the Action. These expenses are properly recovered by counsel. See HCL
6 Partners, 2010 WL 4156342, at *2 (“Expenses are compensable in a common fund 7 case where the particular costs are of the type that ‘would normally be charged to a fee 8 paying client.’”) (citing Harris v. Marhoefer, 24 F.3d 16, 19 (9th Cir. 1994)); see also 9 Destefano, 2016 WL 537946, at *22 (“[C]ourts throughout the Ninth Circuit regularly 10 award litigation costs and expenses – including photocopying, printing, postage, court 11 costs, research on online databases, experts and consultants, and reasonable travel 12 expenses – in securities class actions, as attorneys routinely bill private clients for such 13 expenses in non-contingent litigation.”). Plaintiffs’ Counsel’s expenses are set forth by 14 category in Exhibit 9 to the Joint Declaration.<sup>15</sup>

15 The largest component of Plaintiffs’ Counsel’s expenses is the costs of experts 16 and consultants in the total amount of $1,143,882.92, or approximately 54% of total 17 expenses. ¶ 128. As detailed in the Joint Declaration, Class Counsel worked 18 extensively with Class Representatives’ experts and consultants at different stages of 19 the Action. These experts and consultants were critical to the prosecution and 20 resolution of the Action as their expertise allowed Class Counsel to fully frame the 21 issues, gather relevant evidence, make a realistic assessment of provable damages, 22 structure resolution of the claims, and develop a fair and reasonable plan for allocating 23 the settlement proceeds to the Class. ¶¶ 43-48. Also included in this expense category 24 is the costs of Class Representatives’ jury/trial consultants retained by Class Counsel 25 to provide jury pool analysis, conduct a mock trial, analyze the results of mock juror 26

27 <sup>15</sup> See also Exs. 4 through 8 to the Joint Declaration for expenses by category for 28 each Plaintiffs’ Counsel firm.

1 deliberations, advise with respect to jury questionnaire matters, and assist in trial 2 preparation. ¶¶ 64-72, 128.

3 The second largest component of Plaintiffs' Counsel's expenses (i.e., 4 $364,426.33, or approximately 17% of their total expenses) was for travel related costs 5 (i.e., lodging, transportation, meals, etc.) incurred in connection with attendance at 6 numerous hearings, status conferences, depositions across numerous states, formal 7 mediation, and preparation for trial in San Diego. ¶ 128. In addition, Plaintiffs' Counsel 8 incurred $191,168.01, or approximately 9% of their total expenses, for the costs of 9 court reporters, videographers, and transcripts in connection with the many depositions 10 they took or defended across the country. Id.

11 Another substantial expense, $141,185.19, reflects the costs for an outside 12 vendor to host the document database that enabled Class Counsel to effectively and 13 efficiently search and review the more than 750,000 pages of documents produced by 14 Defendants and third parties in this Action. ¶¶ 33, 129. The ability to code, search, and 15 pull documents to be utilized as exhibits at depositions or at trial was of the utmost 16 importance to the development of the record of evidence in this Action.

17 In addition to the forgoing expenses, Plaintiffs' Counsel also incurred: 18 (i) $68,443.59 for out-side investigative services; (ii) $37,506.00 for the Parties' formal 19 mediation sessions and the ongoing settlement negotiations conducted by Mr. Melnick; 20 and (iii) $74,698.80 for the costs of computerized research (e.g., LexisNexis, Westlaw, 21 and PACER). ¶ 129; Ex. 9 to Joint Declaration. The other expenses for which Class 22 Counsel seek payment are the types of expenses necessarily incurred in litigation and 23 routinely charged to clients billed by the hour, including, among others, court fees, 24 process servers, document-reproduction costs, and delivery expenses. Id. The 25 foregoing expense items are not duplicated in the firms' hourly rates.

26 The Postcard and long-form Notices inform recipients that Class Counsel would 27 seek reimbursement of Litigation Expenses (which may include reimbursement of the 28 reasonable costs and expenses incurred by Class Representatives as discussed below)

1 in an amount not to exceed $2.8 million, plus interest. The total amount of expenses 2 requested is below the amount set forth in the notices and, to date, no objections to the 3 maximum expense request set forth in the notices have been filed. ¶ 109. As such, Class 4 Counsel’s request for Litigation Expenses should be approved.

5 IV. CLASS REPRESENTATIVES SHOULD BE AWARDED THEIR 6 REASONABLE COSTS UNDER THE PSLRA

7 The PSLRA provides that an “award of reasonable costs and expenses (including 8 lost wages) directly relating to the representation of the class” may be made to “any 9 representative party serving on behalf of a class.” 15 U.S.C. § 78u-4(a)(4). Consistent 10 with that statute, Class Representatives seek awards based on the time dedicated by 11 their employees and representatives in furthering and supervising the Action.
12 Specifically, Class Representatives APERS and PBU seek awards of $10,569.00 and 13 $60,000.00, respectively. See APERS Decl., ¶ 14; PBU Decl., ¶ 14.

14 These requested awards are purely for the time and effort Class Representatives 15 devoted to representing the Class in this Action. Both APERS and PBU took active 16 roles in the Action and have been committed to pursuing the claims on behalf of the 17 Class from the outset of the Action in 2014. During the course of the litigation, both 18 Class Representatives communicated regularly with counsel regarding strategy and 19 developments in the Action, reviewed important pleadings and briefs filed in the 20 Action, assisted Class Counsel in responding to voluminous discovery requests, and 21 prepared for, traveled to, and testified at, depositions in connection with class
22 certification. See APERS Decl., ¶¶ 5-7; PBU Decl., ¶¶ 5-7. In addition, both APERS
23 and PBU consulted with Class Counsel during the course of the Parties’ settlement 24 negotiations, including the Parties’ formal mediations with Mr. Melnick. See id. These 25 efforts required employees of Class Representatives to dedicate considerable time and 26 resources to the Action—time and resources they would have otherwise devoted to 27 their regular duties at APERS and PBU.

28

1 Numerous courts, including in this Circuit, have approved reasonable awards to 2 compensate representative plaintiffs for the time and effort they spent on behalf of a 3 class. See, e.g., Amgen, 2016 WL 10571773, at *10 (awarding institutional class 4 representative $30,983.99 in expenses related to its participation in this litigation, 5 including reimbursement of time for General Counsel, Office of Treasury; Solicitor 6 General, and Assistant Attorney); In re Bank of Am. Corp. Sec. Litig., 772 F.3d 125, 7 133 (2d Cir. 2014) (affirming award of over $450,000 to representative plaintiffs for 8 time spent by their employees on the action); In re Cobalt Int’l Energy, Inc. Sec. Litig., 9 2019 WL 6043440, at *3 (S.D. Tex. Feb. 13, 2019) (awarding aggregate of over 10 $56,000 to four institutional plaintiffs); In re Gilat Satellite Networks, Ltd., 2007 WL 11 2743675, at *19 (E.D.N.Y. Sept. 18, 2007) (granting PSLRA awards where, as here, 12 “the tasks undertaken by employees of Lead Plaintiffs reduced the amount of time 13 those employees would have spent on other work and these tasks and rates appear 14 reasonable to the furtherance of the litigation”). The awards sought by Class 15 Representatives here are reasonable and justified under the PSLRA.

16 V. CONCLUSION

17 For the reasons stated herein and in the Joint Declaration, Class Counsel 18 respectfully request the Court: (i) award attorneys’ fees in the amount of 22% of the 19 Settlement Fund (i.e., $14,300,000); (ii) approve reimbursement of Plaintiffs’ 20 Counsel’s Litigation Expenses in the amount of $2,104,370.19; and (iii) approve the 21 proposed awards to Class Representatives in the aggregate amount of $70,569.00 (i.e., 22 $10,569.00 to APERS and $60,000.00 to PBU).
